

Some years ago I was ill. My immune system had broken down and it provided the fuel I needed for deep inner transformation and a spiritual awakening. During this challenging time I felt the need to remove myself from my hectic life and I spent many weekends staying out in the country. The partner I was with was working abroad and I spent much time on my own learning to cook healthy food to heal my body, writing in journals to heal my emotions and going on lots of nature walks.

It was while walking one day that I spotted a beautiful butterfly with very vivid colours on its wings. I smiled to myself as I felt that it wanted me to notice it because it kept resting on the flowers and bushes in front of me. Later that evening the same butterfly with the distinctive marking appeared in my house outside my bedroom. It had its wings closed like it was sleeping and when I went to bed that night I felt very safe as if it was on guard outside my door. In the morning when I awoke it was still there and I knelt down beside it and asked it if it was my guardian angel, and if so would it come towards me? The butterfly flew off the wall and flew around me. It did this three times to make sure I got the message and then I got up and went downstairs. Later that day when I went back to look for it, it had vanished. From that moment on I have never doubted that I was being guided and protected by the angels.

I had a vivid dream last night and I woke up with the numbers '882' in my head. When I looked it up in my book of angel numbers and meanings the definition of '882' was 'as one door is closing another door is opening. Trust your intuition to maintain steady abundance at this time' This made perfect sense to me as I was in the process of transition, letting go of my beauty business. I was working part time in the salon as well as developing myself as a healer. My income had halved and I was looking for other ways to support myself financially while I took the time out from my business. Acting on my intuition I rented my beauty salon space to another therapist who was actually looking to leave her current job and set up her own business. This worked out perfectly for both of us as it provided me with some income and later when it was the right time for me to let go of my business she took it over. It never ceases to amaze me how everything works out perfectly when we trust in the guidance we receive from the angels.

I feel like I'm in my very own 'Celestine Prophecy' just now. I have been asking the angels for help with building up my business. I found myself being pulled to go into a shop today that I'm not in very often. The owner started chatting to me and asking what I did. She immediately started talking to me about all these networking opportunities. When I came out of the shop I saw a car coming towards me with '777' on the number plate and then I saw another one with the same number. The number '777' in my book of angel numbers and meanings means 'congratulations you are on a roll. Keep up the good work. Expect more miracles to occur' I asked for confirmation that this was a definite message for me (I trust that when I get a message 3 times that they mean business!) Soon after that as I was driving back home there was another car coming towards me with the number plate '777' The angels whispered 'end the struggle and dance with life'... Wheeee!

I had received a message from the angels that it was time for me to move out of the city centre to a property in the country, which would be more conducive to my healing and teaching work. I had wanted to do this for ages but money was tight and I didn't have the necessary funds needed upfront when going about the business of selling a property. I asked the angels for help and within days I met up with a friend who I hadn't seen for a long time. I explained to her my predicament and she said that she was very fortunate to earn a good income and wanted to lend me the money for my move. I accepted her offer. My flat sold quickly, the first person that viewed it made me an offer. The angels were very keen to assist me with my move and I was able to repay my friend.
